Symptoms

Of Defective Vision

Many persons have the idea that defective vision manifests itself only in a failure or inability to see clearly, but itching, burning, smarting of the lids, dull pains in the eyes or head, even the back of the head, all come from irregularities in the optical construction of the eyes and may be entirely relieved by correctly fitted glasses.

DR. J. T. JOHNSON Guarantees to correct every case that he undertakes. If your eyes are giving annoyance consult him at once.

THE MACADAM ROAD

From Greensboro to Pomona.—A Good Start Financially.

Editor Telegram:—This is the topic uppermost in the minds of those who study the true interests and welfare of the people. A study of those interests and the present conditions for transporting farm products unavoidably forces us to but one conclusion: Macadamize the roads.

No better time to begin this important work than now. The $1292.00 already subscribed by citizens will go a long ways towards putting the work in practice.

Let the commissioners procure a plant at once. Good machinery can be had on favorable terms. Plans and specifications of road, with regard to strictest economy, can be provided.

But this requires money. Yes! But are you not already spending money? "A thing that is worth doing at all is worth doing well," applies with irresistible logic to road-building.

In Memoriam.

The shadow of death fell upon the household of Mr. O. C. Wysong in the morning of Feb. 25th, 1899.

The father and mother are called to mourn the departure of their infant son, Miles Ruthven. For fourteen months this little child had been spared to gladden their lives. By his sweet winning ways he had won a strong hold upon many hearts. His stay upon earth, though a brief one, has not been in vain. He will be an attraction in the home above. Weep not, fond parents, he has gone to Him who "took little children in His arms and blessed them." The parting, though sad, is over, and now by faith may you be enabled to look beyond earth and earthly things to the reunion in Heaven, when sorrow shall have forever folded her sable wings, and all is joy and peace and love.

Many Falls.

The skating rink was opened to the "culud population" last night, the occasion being a cake walk. And they do say the falls were many and hard, but the majority of the licks were landed on the head and nobody was hurt. The rink will be open to colored people until further notice. Skating every night and damsels free.

Card of Thanks.

Through this medium, Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Wysong wish to thank their many friends for the sympathy and kindness shown them during the illness and death of their baby boy. May God graciously remember each one of them.

GERMAN TROOPS AT MANILA

Are Disembarked to Protect Foreign Residents.

REBELS FIRE ON THE CALLAO.

And the Monadnock Answers With Three Shells, Killing Several Filipinos—Three Quiet Days.

By Cable to the Telegram.

Manila, Feb. 28—The rebels at Malabon fired on the cruiser Callao from the jungle yesterday while Dewey was visiting the Monadnock. The monitor dropped three shells on the Malabon church, demolishing the structure and killing a number of rebels who were inside.

The cruisers Charleston and Concord have gone on a ten days' cruise in search of filibusters, who, it is believed, are landing arms in small quantities at northern ports.

The insurgents, it is believed, are short on ammunition, as the firing during last night was considerably less than usual The Americans are under orders never to take the initiative, and reply only to an unusually active fire. The American trenches have recently been improved and are now practically impregnable.

GERMAN TROOPS AT MANILA.

Madrid, Feb. 28—General Rios cables the minister of war from Manila that the city is hemmed in on the landside by rebel troops; General Otis has recalled Miller's troops from Iloilo, and that German warships had disembarked troops to protect the foreign residents.

GREENSBORO'S ATTRACTIONS

Have Been Called to the Attention of the New Englanders.

Editor Evening Telegram:

Observing notice in your issue of 24th inst., regarding proposed southern tour of the New England Newspaper League: I had previously written these parties, suggesting that Greensboro possessed attractions, which we would like considered, and if they would include our city in their itinerary, it would doubtlessly be a pleasure to our citizens, to extend a hospitable and courteous welcome. This league is a combination of eleven of the most powerful and influential daily papers of New England, composed of Boston Traveler; Fall River News; Manchester Union; Lewiston Journal; Springfield News; Hartford Post; Portland Express; Providence News; Lowell Mail; Concord Monitor; and Burlington News.

These papers reach all sections of New England, and people who are wanting investments, and especially in touch with the great cotton manufacturing interests of that section, in which development we are so extensively interested, through the hundred or more mills around us. The league will travel in special cars, and spend six weeks in the south. Daily letters will be published in the papers named, giving accounts of the observations, reception, advantages of the various sections along the route; and other information, which will be read by hundreds of thousands in the north, showing the resources and progress of the south, as seen by representative New England men. Upon return home of the league, a large southern edition will be issued by all these papers, which will elaborately set out all points of interest to capital and home-seekers, that have been visited. It is an established fact, that several billion of dollars are idle in New England, waiting an opportunity for wise investment, and by concerted effort, we should see that Greensboro occupies a prominent position in this grand write up, which will place her advantages and opportunities in almost every home in New England. This can be done, but like all things which succeed, requires persistent and systematic work.

G. T. Kearsley.

Complimentary German.

A delightful dance was given at McAdoo Hall last evening, complimentary to Miss Lelia Virginia Price, of Virginia, the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Julian Price on Lindsay street.

The german was led by Mr. John W. King with Miss Sara Earl DeButts, and was participated in by about eighteen couples. Dancing began early in the evening and it was far into the morning hours before the merry tripping ceased. The occasion was a most enjoyable one, as was declared by one and all.

The chaperones were Mesdames Price and King. Miss Price was very becomingly attired in white chiffon over blue silk, wearing American beauty roses, with diamonds.

Will Not Open Tomorrow.

Messrs. Harry & Belk Brothers will not open their store for business tomorrow as was expected. Some of their most needed dry goods and also their show cases have failed to arrive and, wishing to make a good impression on Greensboro, Mr. Harry has decided not to open until these things can be put in place. The new firm today added two new clerks to the force. Miss Annie Tate, of this city has accepted a position with them and Mr. Walter Crowell, who has been employed in Belk Brothers' branch store at Monroe, has been transferred to this place. The Telegram extends him a warm welcome.

Criminal Docket Completed.

Judge Bryan and Solicitor Brooks have been rushing business in court yesterday and today and the last case on the criminal docket was tried this afternoon. No cases of importance were ried yesterday or today. The civil docket will be taken up this afternoon.

DEATH IN THE COMMITTEE

Now Seems to be the Fate of the River and Harbor Bill.

SOUTH IS VITALLY INTERESTED.

Senator Pritchard Presents a Petition to Have the First North Carolina Regiment Mustered Out.

Special to the Telegram.

Washington, Feb. 28—At the present time the indications are that the river and harbor bill cannot reach the conference stage before Thursday afternoon. It is very likely that it will never get out of the committee on rivers and harbors, as the opposition in the committee to the Nicaraguan canal amendment is strong, and there is a disposition on the part of some members to defeat the entire bill rather than to allow it to go through with the amendment attached. As shown heretofore the south is vitally interested in the measure, having many important items, aside from the Nicaraguan Canal proposition, and many of the southern representatives, especially those from states like Florida, Georgia and Mississippi, which have valuable local propositions in the bill, in order to save it from destruction, would, if given the opportunity, vote to surrender the canal proposition. There is a strong sentiment in the house, however, as well as in the senate, in favor of the construction of the canal, and it is the disinclination on the part of some of those who favor it, to yield the amendment, which endangers the bill.

The river and harbor committee is now giving hearings to various delegations coming to Washington for the purpose of urging the retention of local items added by the senate. The bill cannot in any event be reported before Wednesday from the committee, and the chances are that it will not be reported, if at all, before Thursday. With only three or four days then remaining of the session, the chances for an agreement on the differences between the senate and the house, which are radical, will be remote. There is a plan on foot among the friends of the canal, if the bill is reported, to move a general concurrence, and it is the fear that this motion may pass, which may lead a majority of the river and harbor committee to hold it up.

Last night a democratic caucus of the members of the house was held in the hall of the house of representatives for the purpose of taking action regarding the McEnery resolution, which passed the senate some days past. Among those in attendance was Representative Kitchin, of North Carolina. Mr. Kitchin is one of the active members of the North Carolina delegation, and is accomplishing good service for the state this session. The fact that he will be a member of the next house puts him in a position to exert much influence with the majority as well as with the minority.

This afternoon in the house of representatives, under the special order adopted yesterday, the consideration of public building bills is in progress. The special order expires at six o'clock, at which hour the house must adjourn. There are bills for public buildings pending of interest to North Carolina, among the towns interested being Winston and Durham. The chances are that none of the North Carolina bills will receive consideration, and as today will be the last day to be devoted to measures of this character, the measures will be killed for this session.

Senator Pritchard was at the war department yesterday and called on Secretary Alger for the purpose of presenting a petition for the mustering out the First North Carolina regiment, which is now doing police duty in Cuba. The men are anxious to return to the United States. Mr. Pritchard is of the opinion that the department will order the regiment to be mustered out.

Among well known North Carolinians in the city yesterday was Dr. J. J. Mott, a well known North Carolina politician. He is registered at the Ebbitt house, and will be in Washington for a few days.

Senator Butler secured the addition of an item in the river and harbor bill for the improvement of Town creek. The amendment provides for a five foot channel from its mouth for a distance of twenty-five miles. The senator is hopeful that the house will consent to retain the amendment.

Postmasters have been appointed in North Carolina as follows:

Winston L. Alberty, Alberty, Surry county; Adella A. Roughton, Day, Tyrrell county; J. F. Coward, Cowarts, Jackson county; Alice L. Messick, New Castle, Wilkes county.

Children's shoes strengthened and reinforced with A. S. T. Co's. tips, last twice as long as ordinary shoes and don't cost any more. Sold in Greensboro by Thacker & Brockmann.

THE LAST WEEK.

Signs Now Point to an Early Ajournment of Legislature.

The legislature yesterday began upon what will probably be the last whole week of this session.

It will be a week of work. For there is yet much to be done.

Most of it, however, has been carefully considered in committee or decided upon in caucus, and need not therefore consume any great amount of time in legislative session.

The house yesterday disposed of some knotty old questions—the oyster claim bills and the revenue act, for instance—and cleared the deck of a great number of local bills.

Owing to last night's caucus an afternoon session was held, and from now on there will be two sessions daily, morning and afternoon or night. Today it will be an afternoon session, as there is another caucus tonight.

Just what day the general assembly will adjourn—or take a recess—no man can now say. Some think it is possible to finish up the work by next Monday. Others name Wednesday, while still others think it will be Friday.

In the meantime the mills of legislation will grind rapidly this week and close inspection of the grist will be a matter almost entirely for the committees.—News and Observer.

Wash-out on A. & Y. Road.

The heavy rain on Saturday night caused a wash-out on the Atlantic & Yadkin road at Moore's Creek, eleven miles from Wilmington. The track was impassable for more than a mile and in some places the water rose a foot above the track. The passenger train from Wilmington due here at 4:15 p. m. yesterday, did not arrive until 5 o'clock this morning.

TUESDAY, FEB. 28, 1899.

If the city should decide to issue bonds, we would suggest the same be advertised to go to the highest bidder.

With apologies to Gray's Elegy:
The curfew tolls the knell of parting day. The kids no more we see. The citizen onward plods his weary way, In search of a dispensaree.

We venture the opinion that if Bishop Potter would attach less importance to the poor man's club, and give more attention and other things to the poor man's grub, the poor man would be correspondingly grateful.

We would like to remind the county commissioners, none of whom live in Greensboro, that we believe a new jail would be acceptable to Morehead and Gilmer townships, said townships paying over one-half of the taxes of Guilford county.

We see that Lord Charles Beresford, of England, is doing a deal of speech-making in first one and then another of our large cities. Although Mr. McKinley has not asked our opinion we would remark in passing that we believe identity of interests is the only alliance that is worth much in these days and times

A man with a low receding forehead and a vacant look in his eyes was heard to remark that a certain windy village which is the county seat of Mecklimburger county is the only town in the state. We are rash enough to try to think that there is a verdant little borough which is and will continue doing business at the forks of the roads in Guilford county.

While the people rallied so nobly to the cause of white supremacy at the last election, and redeemed the state we live in and love, we should not lose sight of the fact that there is yet another battle to be fought, and that is for the suffrage amendment. This will be the hardest and most important political fight that has ever been made in our state, and while white supremacy will win again it would be dangerously unwise to be over-confident and thereby lose the results of a hard fought campaign.

A prominent newspaper a few days ago referred to the dispensary system as "the extreme of socialism." The state of Maine must be the ultra superlative of socialism. This state has, however, among other well known men, sent to the congress of the United States the late Nelson Dingley, Jr., chairman of the ways and means committee, and Thomas B. Reed, twice elected speaker of the house, also Senator William P. Frye, appointed by President McKinley to be one of the commissioners to arrange the treaty of peace between the United States and Spain, at Paris. These men have filled rather important positions to be representatives of a socialistic community.

When we consider the fact that as a rule we live and move and have our being on this earth but one time, it looks but reasonable that we should surround ourselves with those things calculated to make our transitory existence the most comfortable, consistent with the laws of the land. It is to material things we especially refer, which insure and promote the protection of our health and property. In this connection we would mention the matter of the proper sewage sanitation and water supply of our town. There has been introduced in and passed by the general assembly a bill allowing our town to vote on a bond issue to the amount of three hundred thousand dollars. Either a part or the whole as may be issued is to be spent for the improvement of our town. That it needs it is a fact apparent to every citizen. There have been differences of opinion among our people recently, but let us consider the necessity of united action and do all we can to get as near as possible value received for every dollar spent in the improvement of Greensboro.

The Mystery of the Razor.

It is a matter of common experience that a razor left for awhile unused becomes blunt. A writer in Chambers' Journal says that rust caused by the moisture in the atmosphere is quite enough to account for this. Shearers, for instance, who have to use particularly sharp instruments, never set their shears till just before using. What is not so generally known is that a razor which will not cut will become sharper sometimes by being left aside for some time. The only explanation of this is that the electrical properties of the metal in the edge become changed.

A "wire edge" is commonly put on a tool by amateurs. The steel turns and folds back on itself. It is owing to the edge being made too long and thin, or the metal being too soft. The only cure for a wire edge is to break off the bent portion and grind and set again.

"A knife that cuts butter when it is hot" (and under no other circumstances) we sometimes meet with. We have been going into the reasons of things, and the reason of this is easily explained. Heat expands metal, and in proportion to the amount of metal which is heated. There is more metal in the breadth of a blade than in its thickness, and the former, therefore, is expanded immensely more than the latter. In other words, the wedgelike shape is lengthened, and the tool becomes "sharp."

The Fall of Just Pride.

One day soon after the Mulberry Bend park was laid out in the Italian quarter of New York the man who had had more to do with the good work than any one else was passing there. As he strode happily along, thinking of the tenements that used to stand there, the fresh, clean earth attracted him and he walked out upon it. Stamping joyously about, he exclaimed:

"Fine, fine! They have planted the seed and soon the green grass will spring up under the warm sunshine. It is my proudest"—

Just then a park policeman who had slipped up behind him landed two vigorous whacks on the good man's back.

"Git off'n th' grass, ye looney old crank!" he said. "Be off wid ye, quick now, an don't let me ketch ye 'round here ag'in or I'll run ye in. See? G'wan, now."

The philanthropist had leaped wildly to the walk and his fist doubled up with anger, but a second thought, that the "sparrow cop" was right, caused his hand to relax, and the maker of the park "moved on," sore but wise as ever.—New York Times.

Sandy and the Mare.

A Scottish paper tells a story of Sandy Mo——, a Forfarshire farmer who had been spending an hour or two in the evening with a friend a couple of miles away. It was a moonlight night, and Sandy, after partaking freely of his friend's hospitality, was riding quietly home across the sheep pastures on his "guid auld mare," when they came to an open ditch, which his mare refused to cross.

"Hoot awa, Maggie," said the rider, 'this winna dae. Ye maun jist gang ower."

He turned back about a hundred yards, wheeled round and gave the mare a touch of his whip. On she went at a brisk canter, but as they reached the edge of the ditch she stopped dead and shot Sandy clean over to the other side.

Gathering himself up, Sandy looked his mare straight in the face and said:

"Vera weel pitched indeed, ma lass. Bit hoo are ye goin to get ower yersel', eh?"

The Lady of the House.

"The lady of the house," once esteemed a highly polite and conciliatory form of address, is now, said a city dweller, "ancient and obsolete with those who pursue business by modern methods. In advance practice the custom is now to address the lady of the house by name, a method vastly more impressive and one susceptible of varied application. Thus an establishment with which we already have relations sends out a new circular, and this is left at the door by a man who says not 'for the lady of the house,' but 'the So-and-so sends this to Mrs. Blank.' This beats 'the lady of the house' out of sight and marks the refinement of modern methods of doing things."—New York Sun.

Some Sharp Sayings of Bismarck.

Bismarck had the frankness to say that he looked upon the comedies of Dumas the younger, and indeed on most French plays of the lighter sort, as grossly corrupting to the public morals. "Panem et circenses," smiled De Morny. "Panem et saturnalia," muttered Bismarck.

"Prince Bismarck is respectfully requested," wrote the American, "to cable a few words in reference to the following question: What benefit will be derived in your grace's opinion from international expositions?"

On the margin of this the prince simply wrote in pencil, "None."—"Bismarck's Table Talk," by C. Lowe.

Weary's Sacred Promise.

"No, madam, I cannot split the wood to which you so indelicately refer. It would be a violation of a sacred promise I made to me aged mother."

"Nonsense! What kind of a promise?"

"We have the poker habit in our family, ma'am, and I promised mother I'd never touch a chip in any form."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

The Way Two Subscribers Were Lost.

It is a sad story which a western editor tells, mourning the loss of two subscribers. The one wanted to know how to rear twins safely, while the other wanted to know how to rid his orchard of grasshoppers. The answers went forward by mail, but an accident transposed the envelopes, so that the man with the twins received this answer: "Cover them over with straw and set fire to them, and the little pests after jumping around in the flames will speedily settle," while the man plagued with grasshoppers was told to give castor oil and rub their gums with a bone.

Dangers of the Grip.

The greatest danger from La Grippe is of its resulting in pneumonia. If reasonable care is used, however, and Chamberlain's Cough Remedy taken, all danger will be avoided. Among the tens of thousands who have used this remedy for la grippe we have yet to learn of a single case having resulted in pneumonia which shows conclusively that this remedy is a certain preventive of that dangerous disease. It will cure la grippe in less time than any other treatment. It is pleasant and safe to take. For sale by C. E. Holton.

The Tarr Distillery, in Lexington, Ky., has been bought for $60,000 by the recently formed trust of Kentucky distillers and warehouse companies.

For La Grippe

Thomas Whitfield & Co., 250 Wabash ave., corner Jackson st., one of Chicago's oldest and most prominent druggists, recommend Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for la grippe, as it not only gives a prompt and complete relief, but also counteracts any tendency of la grippe to result in pneumonia. For sale by C. E. Holton.

A Worthy Compliment.

Rev. L. W. Crawford, D. D., editor of the Christian Advocate, published at Greensboro, returned home yesterday. Opening of the Social Season and Inauguration of the Magnificent

New York & Florida Limited Service

JANUARY 16, 1899.

The opening of the Florida season will be signalized this year as usual by the placing in service of the "New York and Florida Limited" between New York and St. Augustine, Fla. This is acknowledged to be the finest train in the world, in its appointments, luxury and detail of finish, and the first of these trains was constructed by the Pullman company for the use of the President of the United States on official tours.

"The New York and Florida Limited" leaves New York daily except Sunday at 11:50 a. m., via the pennsylvania Railroad, the Southern Railway, Florida Central & Peninsular R. R. and the Florida East Coast Railway, and reaches St. Augustine at 2.20 p. m. the following day, making the run, which exceeds 1,000 miles, in little more than twenty-four hours. No train has attracted so much attention, and its fame has been heralded wherever railroading is known. It is composed of Pullman compartment cars, each room being finished in different woods and supplied with private lavatory and toilet; Pullman drawing-room sleeping cars of the latest pattern and finish; a royal club car for the gentlemen; an observation car with a handsome drawing room at its rear opening on to a wide platform; a library car, and dining car, in which the service and the cuisine rank with the finest New York hotels. This "New York and Florida Limited" runs through solid to St. Augustine with the exception of one car which is detached at Columbia, S. C., and goes through to Aiken, which it reaches at 9:35 the next morning after leaving New York, and Augusta at 9:50. Brunswick and Jeckyl Island are conveniently reached by this train at 12 o'clock noon through the perfect connections afforded at Everett, Ga.

There are two other fine trains between New York ond Florida via "The Florida Short Line," one the "Washington and Southwestern Vestibule Limited," leaving New York at 4:20 p. m. daily, and the "United States Fast Mail," leaving New York at 12:05 midnight. The former train carries through Pullman drawing room sleeping cars between New York, Jacksonville and Tampa, and also offers Pullman sleeping car service between New York and Augusta, Ga., with connections for Aiken, Brunswick and Jekyl Island. The latter carries through drawing room sleeping cars between New York and Jacksonville, connecting with parlor car service to points on F. C. & P. R. R. and F. E. C. Ry. Dining cars are operated on all trains of the Southern Ry. "The Florida Short Line" in connection with the Florida East Coast Railway to Miami offers the most direct, quickest and delightful service to Nassau, Havana and Key West. For full information, reservations, etc., apply to J. L. Adams, G. E. A., F. C. & P. R. R., 353 Broadway, New York, or to A. S. Thweatt, E. P. A., Southern Ry, 271 Broadway, New York.

Of Interest to Parents

The little child of George White came near burning to death Saturday night. She was standing in front of the fire when her cotton dress ignited, and but for the quick heroic action of her mother, would have burned to death. DYED DIAMONDS.

Yellow Stones Can Be Made to Look Like Gems of the First Water.

"There are tricks in every trade" has grown to be an adage, and this proverb holds especially good with regard to the jewelry trade, which for "ways that are dark and tricks that are vain" fairly takes the palm for roguery.

Although a great deal of capital, time and labor have been devoted to counterfeiting the diamond, very little success has been obtained from a fraudulent point of view, as the diamond possesses extraordinary qualities of hardness and brilliancy, with which no imitation, up to now, can attempt to vie. "Paste" of all kinds can be tested by means of a sharp steel file, which scratches its surface.

A method of successful imposition with diamonds has, however, been discovered, and the originator of this swindle actually defrauded the pawnbrokers of London alone in one year of upward of $500,000.

The general public, as well as jewelers, are aware that diamonds of a yellowish tinge, or, as they are called in the trade, "straws," are worth very little. Large stones of this color, even when weighing from 10 to 100 carats, are quite common and will only fetch in the market from $5 to $20 per carat, the value, of course, increasing in ratio with weight. Diamonds of the same weight, if of the first water, or perfectly colorless, would be worth from five to ten times as much.

The methods of the individual referred to were as follows: He purchased a quantity of "yellow" stones, and then by a simple yet ingenious process succeeded in imparting to them an evanescent purity of color. This was done by procuring two ordinary glasses, a kettle of boiling water and a threepenny packet of mauve dye.

The "yellow" diamond, which was perhaps set in a gold ring or pin, was merely dipped in the glass containing the dye, and then in clean boiling water half a dozen times, and allowed to dry, when it presented all the appearance, even to the eye of an expert, of a magnificent stone of the first water.

The next move was to place the ring on the finger, and the well dressed diamond dyer would sally forth, enter a pawnbroker's and pledge the ring for at least three times its worth. Within 12 hours, however, the effects of the dye would have disappeared, and the pawnbroker could only wonder what on earth was wrong with his eyes when he advanced so much money on such a yellow stone.

Fortunately, owing to the magnitude of this individual's operations, the fraud was discovered, and now pawnbrokers, if they are suspicious of a diamond's color, immerse it in nitric acid, which destroys any dye that may be present without in any way injuring the stone.—London Mail.

GOOD MONEY FOR BAD NEWS

Paid to Learn That Sight Would Leave Him In Six Months.

Somehow it made me feel bad, this happening that I am about to relate. I was in the office of an oculist, one of the leading men in his profession in Pittsburg. A big, strong and healthy looking man entered. His appearance indicated that he had many years of life before him. He was well dressed, keenly intelligent and of pleasant countenance.

"Doctor," he said, "my eyes have been troubling me, and I would like you to make an examination of them and treat them."

After a few preliminary questions the doctor told him to strip himself to the waist. He took off his clothes and stood there, a magnificent specimen of manhood. The doctor examined him, paying particular attention to his back, for a reason of which I know nothing. Having finished, he said:

"Put on your clothes. I can do nothing for you. Your sight may last six months, but no longer. Treatment will do no good. Blindness is sure to come."

"What's the matter, doctor?" he asked quietly, with a faint tremor in his voice.

The doctor told him in technical language and then explained that the trouble came from the wasting of a nerve leading from the spine.

"What's your bill, doctor?" asked the man when he got his clothes on.

"Five dollars," replied the doctor.

He paid it and left the office without another word. In the fullness of life he walked out into the blessed light of day, doomed within six months to darkness until death. It was an incident to the doctor; to me it was a tragedy.—Pittsburg News.

Irving Didn't Read.

Sir Henry Irving appeared at the Theater Royal, Edinburgh, in 1857, and two years later he went to Linlithgow to give a reading there. He was delighted to see his name in big letters on the posters on arriving in the town. He went to the hall, but there was no crowd there—in fact, the caretaker had not arrived, having forgotten all about the reading. Irving went in search of him, and things were got ready; 8:30 o'clock arrived, but no one came to the hall—not even a small boy. In recalling the incident Sir Henry was wont to say, "I never slept better than I did that night."

Its Natural Effect.

"How many of these sheep got out of here?" asked the angry farmer.

"I don't know," replied the new hired man, rubbing his eyes. "After I'd watched five or six of 'em jump over the fence I seemed to lose the count. That always puts me to sleep."—Chicago Tribune.

Of No Avail.

"Prisoner," said the court, "have you anything to say for yourself?"

"What's the use?" replied the culprit; "you guys wouldn't believe me."—Philadelphia North American.

FEATHERED BAROMETERS.

Sailors Warned by Them of a Coming Storm.

While a British brig was gliding smoothly along before a good breeze in the south Pacific a flock of small birds about the size, shape and color of parrakeets settled down in the rigging and passed an hour or more of resting. The second mate was so anxious to find out the species to which the visiting strangers belonged that he tried to entrap a specimen, but the birds were too shy to be thus caught and too spry to be seized by the quick hands of the sailors. At the end of about an hour the birds took the brig's course and disappeared, but toward nightfall they came back and passed the night in the maintop.

The next morning the birds flew off again, and when they returned at noon the sailors scattered some food about the decks. By this time the birds had become so tame that they hopped about the decks, picking up the crumbs. That afternoon an astonishing thing happened. The flock came flying swiftly toward the brig. Every bird seemed to be piping as if pursued by some little invisible enemy on wings, and they at once huddled down behind the deckhouse. The superstitious sailors at once called the captain of the brig, who rubbed his eyes and looked at the barometer. A glance showed that something was wrong with the elements, and the brig was put in shape to outride a storm.

The storm came about 20 minutes after the birds had reached the vessel. For a few minutes the sky was like the waterless bottom of a lake—a vast arch of yellowish mud—and torrents of rain fell. Why it did not blow very hard no one knows, but on reaching port two days later the captain learned that a great tornado had swept across that part of the sea. The birds left the vessel on the morning after the storm and were not seen again.—Maryland Bulletin.

AN EYE TO THE FUTURE.

The Widower Made Plans For His Fourth Honeymoon.

Included in the wide membership of the Pacific Union club is a middle aged man whom everybody knows simply as the Widower. He has been so fortunate as to outlive three consorts without getting tired of any of them. His many bereavements have given him a sort of professional standing in the world of sorrow, and he is rather proud of his reputation for constant mourning.

The Widower, whose grief is interesting to ladies, is never ostentatious in his sighings. On the contrary, he cultivates an air of patient resignation, beautiful to behold. A peculiarity about his case is his habit of associating the memory of each dear, departed spouse with some spot or resort about the city or the suburban towns.

He was recently showing San Francisco and its environs to a friend from New York. Over in Berkeley, he remarked, sighingly:

"Here I once walked on flowers, for my Elizabeth was with me then."

Out in the park he was careful to indicate the exact spot where poor Katharine had sketched the landscape with her right hand, while her left was clasped in his. At Sutro Heights he dropped a single tear, developed with great difficulty, as he gazed on the beach, where, not so very long ago, he sat with his arm around his sainted Caroline.

"If I ever marry again," he remarked musingly, "I think I shall bring her here."—San Francisco News Letter.

Irish Pronunciation.

An amusing example of the Irishman's pronunciation occurs in a story told of the late Dr. Todd, the Irish archæologist, who, although a great scholar, was not above perpetrating a practical joke. The London Spectator tells the story and says:

A very learned Englishman went to Dublin to examine some manuscripts in the library of Trinity college and was of course introduced to Dr. Todd, who one day in conversation told him that there was in Trinity college a curious instance of the survival of a habit dating from the time of the Danes; that at a certain hour of the afternoon—I think 6 o'clock—a porter went the round of the college ringing a bell and calling out in a loud voice, "The Dane's in the hall," when all the students rushed from their rooms to repel the invaders. So the learned but somewhat incredulous Englishman repaired to the college at 6 o'clock, and, sure enough, what Dr. Todd had told him came to pass, which he gravely related on his return to England. The summons of course referred to the dean.

His Feelings Were Hurt.

"I used to think these mother-in-law jokes were fiction," said a young man with a fancy vest and a receding chin, "but I guess they're justifiable."

"Has yours been cruel to you?"

"Yes. I told two or three of these stories about a man's being glad to be rid of his wife's mother, and she said that if I kept on talking in that manner she'd stop paying the house rent and the coal bill and the taxes, and that she'd take her furniture to fix up a home of her own. The idea of threatening a man in that way, in cold blood!"—Washington Star.

Two Extremes.

"My ambition," said a French writer, "is to condense a book into a chapter, a chapter into a paragraph, a paragraph into a phrase." A teacher in one of our colleges said of Richardson, "His ambition was to expand a phrase into a paragraph, a paragraph into a page, a page into a chapter and a chapter into a volume."—New York Commercial Advertiser.

An Honest Medicine for La Grippe,

George W. Waitt of South Gardiner, Mo., says: "I have had the worst cough, cold, chills and grip and have taken lots of trash of no account but profit to the vender. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is the only thing that has done any good whatever. I have used one 50-cent bottle and the chills, cold and grip have all left me. I congratulate the manufacturers of an honest medicine." For sale by C. E. Holton.

Three hundred Chinamen passed through New York on their way to Mexico, where they will be employed as laborers on the Mexican Central railroad.

As the season of the year when pneumonia, la grippe, sore throat, coughs, colds, catarrh, bronchitis and lung troubles are to be guarded against, nothing "is a fine substitute," will "answer the purpose," or is "just as good" as One Minute Cough Cure. That is the one infallible remedy for all lung, throat or bronchial troubles. Insist vigorously on having it if "something else" is offered you. Howard Gardner.

THE BARS REPAIRED.

And a Few Remarks About the Excuse for a Jail.

Mr. John Lewis today repaired the bars sawed by the prisoners in the jail Sunday night and the prisoners were returned to that cell this afternoon. The bars were sawed in seven places, and stopping the opening so that it would stay stopped was no easy undertaking, but Mr. Lewis fixed it so securely that the prisoners are not likely to try at that place again, even if they get the tools. An escape was made from the same window a few years ago and with two repairs, side by side, the window is almost a sol'd block of iron.

Link has acknowledged that his brother procured the tools for him, but that some of the other prisoners helped him to cut the bars. He will not give the names of those prisoners, however.

The iron work of the jail is about all of the old shack that is any good and this will not withstand an attack with iron saws. Guilford's jail is laughed and wondered at by visitors, and justly, too, for it is, to say the least, a backwoods and insecure structure. It is to be hoped that we will have a better one ere long. Good roads and a county jail are two things that Guilford's commissioners should not lose sight of.

Handsome Front.

The Hague-McCorkle Dry Goods Company are having the front of their store on South Elm street painted, and will make it one of the handsomest fronts on the thoroughfare. They are also having some attractive gold-letter signs put on the windows. Messrs Hague and McCorkle possess the characteristic energy of East Tennesseeans and Greensboro is proud of the new firm.
